

In Wisconsin, we have taken the initiative in this matter with a tough and effective rule. The overwhelming positive public response to and participation in Wisconsin's law should be a strong indication how we feel about it. Any attempts to weaken our state law should be curtailed. If anything, the federal government should use Wisconsin's example and strengthen its no-call law.